

KANE'S BASEMENT

Kane's Basement are an electrifying indie-funk four piece hailing from Cork city in Ireland.

Inspired by artists such as Vulfpeck, The Police, Prefab Sprout and Amy Winehouse, they've honed their own unique blend of alt-funk and have attracted the praise of indie legends such as The Sultans of Ping and The Love Buzz.

On the scene since November 2022, they've released three well received singles and were crowned winners of the UCC "Battle of the Bands" competition 2023, winning festival space and a recording contract with Blackwater Studios. They have played as part of the Other Voices line up in UCC alongside artists such as Faoi Bhlaith, Cardinals and Dylan Buckley.

With the anticipated release of their debut EP in May, a concept piece chronicling a night on the town, they show off their ability for introspective and sarcastic wordplay along with their own signature pulsing rhythms. They are currently planning a national tour to promote this release.

"A confident, well-drilled and polished band, something evident in the tightness of their playing" – Evening Echo

"They exude charisma with a hint of suave nonchalance onstage.. grooving basslines stylishly complement the warm vocals" – Indie Buddie

"Onstage, they have a limitless energy and unfiltered joy for performing" – University Express
